2013 American Honey Princess is University of Minnesota, Crookston Freshman Emily Campbell

By Itollefts on Monday, February 4, 2013

The American Beekeeping Federation is proud to announce that Emily Campbell was selected as the 2013 American Honey Princess at the North American Beekeeping Conference in Hershey, PA in January. Campbell is the 19-year-old daughter of Becky Zenke of Aitkin, Minn., and of Erich Campbell of Holton, Kan., and the granddaughter of Robert and Irma Rom of Aitkin, Minn. She is a freshman at the University of Minnesota, Crookston, where she is pursuing a degree in large animal veterinary medicine. Campbell is a first generation beekeeper, keeping bees as a hobby. Prior to being selected as the American Honey Princess, Campbell served as the 2012 Minnesota Honey Queen. In this role, she promoted the honey industry at fairs, festivals, and farmers' markets, via media interviews, and in schools. Campbell will spend the next year promoting the beekeeping industry throughout the United States in a wide variety of venues. To schedule an appearance with American Honey Princess Emily Campbell, please contact American Honey Queen Program Chairperson Anna Kettlewell at 414.545.5514.
